"We are thrilled to be named a best workplace for the seventh year in a row," said Anna Binder, Head of People at Asana. "At Asana, we firmly believe that a strong and positive culture is the foundation for driving exceptional business results. This recognition highlights our unwavering dedication to creating an environment where our employees thrive, enabling innovation, productivity, and ultimately, the growth and success of our customers."

To determine the Fortune Best Workplaces in the Bay Area™ List Great Place To Work collected nearly 100,000 confidential survey responses from employees at eligible companies. Via the Trust Index™ Survey employees shared honest feedback about their experience by responding to 60 statements about the employee experience and answering two open-ended questions.

"Congratulations to Best Workplaces in the Bay Area," says Michael C. Bush, CEO of Great Place To Work. "Amid ongoing uncertainty and challenging market pressures, these companies stuck by their principles and delivered exemplary experiences for all employees. The reward? Those workers are giving their full effort — driving productivity, innovation, and a great experience for their customers."

"Fortune congratulates the Best Workplaces in the Bay Area," says Fortune Editor-in-Chief Alyson Shontell. "Employee experience is critical to company performance, and these companies are setting that standard."

The Best Workplaces in the Bay Area list is highly competitive. Survey responses reflect a comprehensive picture of the workplace experience. Honorees were selected based on their ability to offer positive outcomes for employees regardless of job role, race, gender, sexual orientation, work status, or other demographic identifiers.

To be eligible for the list, companies must be Great Place To Work Certified™, have at least 10 U.S. employees, and be headquartered in the San Francisco Bay Area.
